Projects

Team Structure

Traditionally, the SAASC executive team was comprised of five elected positions: Chair, Vice-Chair, Secretary, Events Coordinator and Technology Coordinator. In 2014-2015 SAASC updated our constitution to only require three elected positions: Chair, Vice-Chair and Secretary. SAASC wanted to limit the number of elected positions to avoid ever having to disband the group. However, in order to offer superb programming and keep members connected/engaged, SAASC needs additional support for event planning, promotion and creation of web-based content. In response to this need, the 2015-2016 officers decided to form a team structure, made up of non-elected members. The Events Team and Web Team foster deeper involvement from more of our members. The teams have been critical to our operation and it is a structure that will most likely be maintained into the foreseeable future.

Membership Requirements

SAASC was notified by SAA in the Fall 2015 semester that our membership requirements did not align with SAA policy. In the past, SAASC did not require that our voting members also be individual members of SAA; however, this has always been a requirement for our officers. All appropriate changes were made to our constitution and members were notified that effective January 28, 2016 voting members of SAASC are required to be individual members of SAA. Although there was no pushback from members regarding these changes to our constitution, there were some students who expressed concern that the changes meant they could not get as involved in SAASC activities. We assured members that the changes to our constitution does not prevent anyone from following us on social media, subscribing to our blog, joining our group site on Canvas, contributing content to our open source digital publication Archeota and attending our events. The change to our constitution does affect those who wish to nominate themselves for office, vote in elections, join teams, form Special Interest Groups or become an editor of Archeota. We hope that these revised membership requirements will encourage more students to get involved in SAA.

Archeota

In Spring 2016 SAASC successfully released the third issue of Archeota, our official publication and voice of the student archivists at SJSU. In 2016-2017 SAASC aims to increase participation and diversify content.

*Presenting at Archives*Records 2016*

The 2015-2016 officers have been approved to present a student chapter poster at the 2016 SAA Annual Meeting in Atlanta, GA. We are the first SAASC officers to receive funding from the SJSU iSchool to attend our parent organization's annual conference. We are thrilled to be presenting at SAA, to share with the larger archival community what our organization has accomplished, to learn and network.
